South of Corsica

The “Isle of Beauty” is a mountainous reef that plunges into the sea. Its summit, the Monte Cinto culminates at 2'706 m. With its multiple tracks and paths, the south of the island offers an ideal terrain for mountain biking.

You will alternate coastal routes, with splendid beaches with turquoise waters or along the white cliffs of Bonifacio, and inland routes, more hilly, which will take you to the discovery of the landscapes remained wild and authentic through the scrub and along crystalline rivers.

The area is also full of small producers and local specialties to taste and enjoy.
